This is a pretty plan and it could be made a very advantageous one to the country; but who will be "the disinterested persons" appointed to the board? We can only judge the President's purposes by what he has done. He has been the friend of the great monopolies. He has shown no consideration for the South. The first voting under the new election in Far Rockaway, was very satisfactory in the main. The voting was sufficiently rapid, the secrecy of the ballot was maintained, and the voters were protected from importunity, bulldozing, and bribery. Some minor embarrassments will disappear when the new system becomes familiar to the voters. It is absurd to think that New York cannot apply a plan of voting which works perfectly in other States. ancestry who give renown to his name, he has treated slightingly. He has consorted with our worst enemies, and we fear that if the board is authorized it will be partisan and sectional organization. If so it will fasten old abuses upon us, and ingeniously contrive to fashion new ones for adoption by Congress.

The theory may be promising, but we fear the practical effects.

The Speaker, and Maine.

The Speaker, and Maine.

From all we hear from Mr. Reed's district the wonder is not that he was recleeted by a great majority, but that he did not get all the votes cast.

Democrats, while discouraged and disgusted by discord and supineness in their own ranks, were entreated as a measure of State pride to give their support to the Speaker. Ingenious appeals, public and private, were made to them. No doubt it was said that some day Mr. Reed would be President if his home-folks would only stand by him at this critical moment. Some Democrats yielded to these persuasions so far as to vote for him; others so far as to remain away from the polls.

Where pleadings were useless sordid means were used. Great sums of money were sent out from Washington, and the ballot-box.

The flattery heaped upon Mr. Reed by the numerous orators sent to Maine to sound his praises during the canvass will make him more consequential than ever. He certainly now feels himself as big a man as old Blaire, and will no doubt set his triggers to divide with the plumed knight in 1892 the Maine delegation to the national convention.

is nothing else now to be done. Yes, pub-lic opinion will have to accept the situation, but it will always be a reproach to Chicago that it was unable or unwilling to meet its promises and the expectations of the country in providing a suitable site for what is expected to be the greatest exhibi-

Dual Site for the Fair.

As announced in this paper yesterday the directors of the Columbian fair have reaffirmed their choice of some months ago, and selected the dual site of the Lake Front and Jackson Park.

The two places are five miles apart, but it is proposed to make extraordinarily cheap, rapid, and convenient means of communication between them.

This is not a first-rate plan. Washington city and possibly New York could have done better.

Interviewing is an art, and both the man interviewed and the reporter must be qualified for the work. One of the brightest and most instructive interviews that we have read in a long time appeared in the Pispatch this morning. Mr. Granville Gray Valentine, one of Richmond's well-known business-men, was the gentleman interviewed. He is a quick observer, a practical reasoner, and, like all his clan, a clever talker. The reporter knew just the questions that would draw interesting answers, and the result is a column that would prove valuable in any book of travels.

AN ADJOURNED MEETING HELD IN PETERSBURG YESTERDAY.

An Alliance Exchange Discussed—The Organization Non-Political-Opposed to the Sub-Treasury Scheme,

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

Petersburg, Va., September 10, 1890. An adjourned meeting of the Farmers' Alliance Convention, composed of representatives of the county alliances adjacent to Petersburg, was held in this city yes. terday. The counties of Dinwiddie, Chesterfield, Prince George, Sussex, and Charles City were represented and busi-ADVERTISING NATES,

In conversation with a prominent alli-ance man to-day your correspondent was informed that the alliance in Virginia do not propose to enter the political field as a distinct element; that any contest they may make in behalf of the interests of their order will be made within the existing par-ties; that their organization is strictly a order will be made within the existing parties; that their organization is strictly a business one, whose object is the alleviation of the condition of the farmers; to relieve them from debt, and to place them upon a foundation which will insure their presperity. He added that three fourths of the alliance men in Virginia are opposed to the sub-Treasury scheme, and that this number is steadily increasing, as that scheme is better understood.

The convention yesterday framed a charter of incorporation for the alliance exchange, which will be secured from one of the courts at an early day, and then adjourned over until the 2d of October.

journed over until the 2d of October.

AN INCORDIGIBLE TRIEF.

William Williams (colored), aged about eight or nine years, was arranged in the Mayor's Court this morning on the charge of burglary. This is the third time within the past two or three weeks that this incorrigible little thief has been arrested for robbery. On the two first charges he escaped condign punishment on account of his extreme youth and small size on condition that his guardians would whip him. This morning the Mayor was informed that the boy should be sent out of the State, and on this promise the prisoner was released, with the understanding that if found in the city next Monday he should be formally tried.

PRINCE GEORGE NEWS.

The County Court of Prince George meets to-morrow, when the Democrats will hold a meeting and elect five delegates to the congressional convention which is to assemble in this city on the 24th of September. Delegates in favor of the renomination of Hon. E. C. Venable will be chosen. In fact, the whole district will send Venable delegates to the convention. The case of Brown, the colored commissioner of the revenue for the county, who is charged with mase feasance and incompetency in office, will be called for trial tomorrow. Brown has engaged W B. Mellwaine, Eso., of this city, as counsel. The case, of course, will be tried before a jury.

A BICYCLE ACCIDENT. PRINCE GEORGE NEWS.

A small boy named Best was knocked down and run over by a brevele which a young gentleman was riding rapidly down Union street this morning near the post-office. He was knocked out into the gutter and considerably hurt, but after awhite managed to walk home. Bicycles are allowed to run on all the street-footways except north Sycamore, Bollingbrook, and Old, but not at an excessive speed on any of the streets.

GENERAL NOTES. Among the new industries shortly to be started in this city is a large trunk-factory on west High street. Responsible men with sufficient capital are said to be in the

Mrs. Eliza Rose, a respected widow lady, aged about fifty years, died to-day at her residence on High street, of acute paralysis. She was the daughter of the late R. F. Jackson, and had been sick for some time. Many of Petersburg's summer visitors to the mountains and seaside are returning here.

DEFICIT TOBACCO OFFERINGS.

The offerings of bright tobacco are increasing each week and the market for this class of tobacco is showing a fivity. It is understood that the planters in all of the counties adjacent to Petersburg, and particularly in the counties of Branswick. Mecklenburg, and Lunenburg, will give more attention this year to flue-curing than ever before. It is the intention of our people to make Petersburg as good a flue-cured market as any in the State. New buyers are in the market and all the bright tobacco brought here will be quickly bought up.

Mrs. Dr. J. J. Crawtord, of Dinwiddie county, met with an accident several days ago which caused her the loss of two fingers of her right hand. She was attempting to lead a cow from the yard which was tied with a rope. The animal became restless, and in her efforts to restrain the cow she wound the rope around a tree. The animal pulled so hard that two fingers of Mrs. Crawford's hand were so badly lacerated and injured as to necessitate amputation.

THREATENED BRICK FAMINE. Large Number of Public and Private

Buildings Under Way—The New Hotel. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] DANVILLE, September 10, 1890.

Danville is threatened with a brick famine. A number of handsome brick residences are now in course of construction and the following buildings will be erected this fall: New public-school building (to cost $20,000), new markethouse and city hall, large brick factory for T. J. Fenn, large brick factory for W. N. Shelton, large brownstone front for the Merchants Bank, and a store of similar character for M. & L. Langield. These buildings are to be erected it possible before cold weather sets in, to say nothing of new residences, and the builders are afraid that there will not be bricks enough in the city to go round.
